

American Society of Irish Medieval Studies announcement:

The Four Courts Press Michael Adams Prize in Irish Medieval Studies

- This prize is announced and awarded annually at the International Congress on Medieval Studies at Kalamazoo.
- The prize is awarded for the best essay/article in Irish Medieval Studies published in a book or journal during the previous calendar year. The next prize will be awarded in May 2022 for an essay/article published in 2020-2021.
- Only articles/essays written by members of ASIMS will be considered. Membership can be arranged via: <http://www.asims.org> Membership dues are as follows:

Regular Membership: $50
Lecturer/Part Time Faculty: $30
Student Membership: $20

- The prize is open to everybody, from students to senior academics.
- Each entrant must submit his/her article on or by March 25th of the year of the prize ceremony (i.e., if you are entering the 2020-2021 competition, you must submit your entry for consideration on or by 25 March 2022).
- The preferred submission format is PDF as an email attachment. If submitting by post, send four paper copies.
- All submissions for the year 2020 should be sent before midnight, March 25, 2022 to:
Dr. Melanie Maddox
Associate Professor of History, The Citadel
Email: mmaddox@citadel.edu
- The entries will be judged by a panel consisting of specialists in the fields of the papers submitted and may include a representative from Four Courts Press; at least one judge will be the prior year's winner of the Adams prize competition.
- The prize is a check to the value of US $500 from Four Courts Press. A summary of the article will be reprinted in EOLAS, the journal of ASIMS.
